Mutt Match At
Kennel Club
To Draw Crowd

They're at it again in El Cerrito. Popular demand has brought a return of the fascinating hamburger stake, a match of mutts of every breed and description, which will be added to the regular eleven race program tonight.

New entries in this popular event tonight include a black and white owned by Frances McKel of San Francisco; an Alaskan husky owned by Mr. Porter of Alameda; and a Chow belonging to Macdonald of Berkeley. More than 50 dogs are expected to start.

Copper King, trained by Clyde Looney, scored impressively last night over Highland King and Doctor A. to pay $21.60 in the 3-16ths mile race. Copper King drew out with a burst of speed that would be denied. This was the pup's second start at El Cerrito; marks the dog as one to watch in future.

ANGELS AND SEALS FIGHT FOR PLACE

Fighting for second place in Pacific Coast League standings, the Los Angeles Angels and the San Francisco Seals moved into the Seals' home camp yesterday for the opening of a series today which may see the Angels shunted into third place by Lefty O'Doul's hard-hitting crew.

The Seals, only a few points behind the Angels in league standings, blew their chance to grab second place from Los Angeles in the week-end series as they ended their four games with Hollywood.

Los Angeles, slowing down after their whirlwind start, salvaged for one game from their series with the Missions and slid to a percentage of 59.1 for behind the Oklahoma Aviators. With percentages at most even now, the Seals are trailing the Angels by but one game and hope to move into the second spot during the week.

At Hollywood the Missions, still filling the cellar spot in spite of their recent sensational comeback, will go into their series with the Stars Tuesday with a fighting chance of moving out of their ignominious last place position.

Victorious over the Angels in three games over the week-end, the Missions are favored to continue their winning streak against Frank Shellenback and his Stars.

The league-leading Oaks, held to a two-all deadlock by Seattle in the last series, will resume their argument with the Indians Tuesday in a second series.

Seattle, but a nose ahead of the last-place Missions, came up strong to even their series with Oakland, and are little worried over prospects of slipping into the cellar.

Portland and Sacramento, who also ended the series in a 2-2 tie, likewise will continue play on the Ducks' home field in a second series.

The Senators showed improved form in taking both Sunday games from the Ducks, and hope to move into the northerners' fourth position in mid-week games.

Portland 10, Philadelphia 8 (11 innings).
Detroit 18, St. Louis 0.
Chicago at Cleveland, postponed,

STANFORD TO BE UNDERDOGS
AT TRACK MEET

STANFORD UNIVERSITY, Calif.,
April 29.—(UP)—Entering the meet with the University of Southern California as "underdogs" for the week-end in several events, Stanford supporters today believe the Cardinals had small chance of picking up more than 45 points against the southerners Saturday.

Best chances for Stanford in the first places appeared to be in the low hurdles, quarter mile, high jump and javelin.

Stanley Glimstock, who has been consistent around 14.5 seconds in the high hurdles, will enter the race a favorite over the Trojan timber tappers, and is given an outside chance of breaking into first money in the 220 yard low hurdle event.

BIG CREW IS AT WORK ON NEW HOUSING

Richmond's campaign for new building and modernization was launched yesterday under auspices of the Chamber of Commerce, with a large crew of SERRA workers receiving instructions as to how to conduct the house-to-house canvass.

The drive was launched with the full crew of SERRA workers meeting in the Syndicate building and receiving several hours of detailed instructions by J. G. Melville, the field representative of the Federal Housing Administration. Melville's task was to turn the SERRA workers into fully trained salesmen, who will be capable of delivering a selling talk to householders and property owners which will induce them to provide needed repairs or under take new construction.

Every part of Richmond will be affected by the campaign. Homes of all types, whether new or old, will lend themselves to some form of repair or modernization, it was said. In all divisions of the business district will be found store buildings where repairs or modernization, either to the interior or to the front will raise the value of the property and result in more and better business being done.

Perhaps the most emphasis will be placed on the need for new construction, since it is a recognized fact that this city is extremely short of new houses of the better sort. Lack of confidence, uncertainty about financing and other factors have worked to prevent real estate men, contractors and individual home owners from building new houses.

"With the new atmosphere which we have to create with this campaign all obstacles should vanish and a great many new dwellings should be built," said P. M. Sanford, president of the Chamber of Commerce. "The fact that the government insures these FHA loans against 20 per cent loss means that bankers will be much more ready to undertake the necessary financing. We anticipate our biggest results in the field of new construction."

The campaign will run about six weeks and will embrace El Cerrito and Richmond.

SWEEPSTAKE IS PLANNED BY FRENCH

PARIS. (UP)—Greatly encouraged by the success of the Irish and Luxembourg sweepstakes and its own national lottery, the French have decided to conduct a sweep on the Grand Prix de Paris, which is held on the Longchamp track in June.

Tickets worth $20,000,000 will be issued. Eight per cent of the proceeds will be devoted to the Paris fairs, press organizations and charities such as the Gueules Cassees and the Ailes Brisees. Twelve per cent will be allotted to the Paris racing authorities, while seven per cent will be set aside for public utilities dependent on the Paris-mutuel.

When the sweepstakes first was suggested, it was thought that it would seriously compete with the national lottery. After careful study, however, it finally was accepted with the object of giving additional interest to the principle sporting event of the season. The French hope that it will take in the same manner that the Irish sweepstakes has gripped Europe, America and the Far East.

If it is successful, another sweepstakes may be held on the Prix de l'Arc-de-Triomphe, October, which also runs on the Longchamp track.

LABOR URGES CONGRESS TO PASS MEASURE

WASHINGTON, April 29. (UP)—As the first Labor Congress ever held in this country noisily debated and endorsed the Wagner-Connery disputes bill, word came tonight from usually reliable sources that congress would enact the measure and that President Roosevelt would accept it.

The Senate labor committee agreed late today to report the bill favorably. Chairman David I. Walsh, Democrat, Massachusetts, said the report would be submitted to the senate as soon as it could be written. The bill was strengthened by the addition of a clause requiring employers to bargain with workers when the latter requested conferences on working conditions.

DEFEND BILL

Two administration officials hurried to defend the bill when it came before congressional committees. They were Secretary of Labor Frances Perkins and Chairman Francis Biddle of the National Labor Relations Board.

Labor considers the Wagner bill the most vital piece of legislation affecting American workers presented to congress in half a century. Unionists insist the government cannot enforce section 7-A of the NIRA and that the worker has no protection under the act.

The Wagner bill writes into the statute books the right of labor to bargain collectively through representatives of their own choosing without coercion from employers, creates a "checkmate" to pass on labor disputes and outlaws a company dominated union.

PRESSURE EXERTED

The full pressure of organized labor for the measure is being exerted on Capitol Hill. One conservative Senator who has ardently supported the New Deal conceded privately tonight that the bill would pass through congress.

Union leaders say they have received assurances from high administration officials that Mr. Roosevelt was sympathetic to the measure and would sign it. He is reported to have assured laborites negotiating the recent "armistice" with the White House that congress should enact a measure strengthening labor safeguards under the New Deal.

FIRST AID COURSE OF TEN LECTURES

A first aid training course to consist of ten lectures was started here Sunday morning at the fire hall. Twelve firemen were in the class. The first lecture was given by the Red Cross and an outstanding authority upon the subject.

He will give a ten weeks course for the police department starting Wednesday. The lesson will be from three to five in the afternoon. A good attendance is anticipated.

Supplementary to the firemen's course a demonstration was given last night at 7:30 of the new insulator lately required by the fire department by a demonstrator sent by the Ed Bullard company of San Francisco.

Instructor Morris will start a similar ten weeks course of study in first aid tactics and apparatus at the Richmond Union high school next Wednesday morning.

SATURDAY NIGHT PARTIES ARE HELD

Two parties Saturday night, the firemen's last of the month party and the Berkeley Park Improvement Association whist and dance, and the Sunday afternoon ballgame at Martinez kept El Cerritos busy over the week end.

The firemen's parties held all ways on the last Saturday of the month are open to the public and are interesting affairs.

Saturday night's gathering was no exception to this rule. Ten tables of whist players held the floor until twenty hands had been played and the prizes awarded to Claire Schaeffer, Dick Bobeldyk, Mack Stiff, R. N. Walter, Mrs. Dick Bobeldyk, Mrs. O. A. Barnett and Mrs. S. C. Masterson.

The games were followed by delicious refreshments. Then dancing was enjoyed until a late hour, and the firemen proved themselves royal hosts, as always.

FREE FOR ALL FIGHT STAGED BY BALL CLUB

NEW YORK, April 29. (UP)—Chicago and Pittsburgh today battled through a knockdown-drag-out ball game that produced 23 runs against 10 pitchers and a free-swinging first night that enlivened a crowded crowd of action for the leader in either league.

Scoring 10 runs in the eighth, the Cubs overcame a 9 to 2 deficit and won the game by 12 to 11 when the Pirates' two-run counter attack in the ninth left them one short of a tie.

YOUTH SPENDS ENTIRE YEAR IN RESPIRATOR

OAKLAND, April 29. (UP)—Raymond Rambo, 17, "celebrates" the end of this first year spent in a Drinker respiration tomorrow.

Never outside the artificial respirator—except when the machine broke down once—the youth has remained alive despite unfavorable predictions by his physicians.

A victim of infantile paralysis, Raymond is believed to have lived longer in the "robot lung" than any other patient on record.

His will to live his ability to conceal pain and discomfort with a smile, his unflagging hope—these are the qualities that have kept him from dying, doctors said.

He is paralyzed from the neck down. His year of confinement in the barrel-shaped, clanking respirator has caused his body to waste away. Painful lesions developed on his back and limbs from lying days on end in the machine.

When the device broke down Raymond was kept alive by artificial respiration administered by nurses.

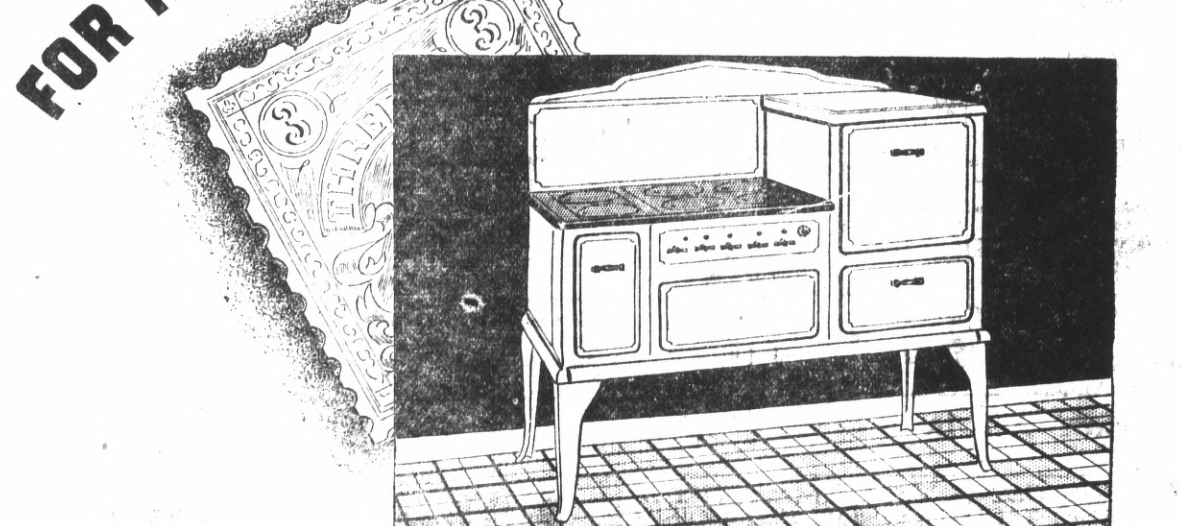

He takes all his meals in the machine. Over his head projects a sheet of glass. A bowl with two goldfish sits on the glass. Raymond prizes the antics of his pet fish. Books are laid flat on the projection, and nurses turn the pages for him as he reads.

hopes of surviving. Three other persons were at the station but escaped unhurt.

CLIMAX OF FEUD

Authorities said the shooting was a climax of a feud that had existed between Bryant and the Fergusons for the past year.

Bryant's station was dynamited a year ago. Authorities said, and Bryant charged Clint Ferguson with the dynamiting. Last Friday night some one set fire to a station which Bryant had recently opened in Tyler and Bryant blamed the Fergusons as the arsonists.

"WAS SLAUGHTER"

Tonight's shooting was described by Mrs. Hawkins as "nothing less than a slaughter."

"The men folks were outside," she said. "I was standing in the door of the station. I heard a shot and felt a stung in my arm. Blood began running down my arm. Then there were two more shots. Every body started screaming and fell to the floor, trying to get out of the way of the shots."

While officers were investigating the shooting, Bryant walked into the office of Sheriff Tom Sykes. He said he had walked from his station.

Iowa Declares Germ War On Grasshoppers

IOWA CITY, Iowa, April 29.—UP—A germ war on grasshoppers was declared today by University of Iowa zoologists who announced discovery of a parasite which may end this scourge of agriculture in the plains states.

The germ, Microgaster locustae, measures 5-25,000ths of an inch and killed laboratory grasshoppers within two weeks during experiments by Dr. E. H. Siler, Dr. R. L. King and Dr. A. B. Taylor. Harmless to crops or other insects, the parasites are to be settled on the food of grasshoppers. Then, if the germ is as effective in the fields as in the laboratory, it will destroy reproductive organs, cause lassitude and eventually death. The germs multiply under favorable conditions at a rate of more than 1,000,000 a week.

The parasite is most effective against the "M. Differentialis" type of grasshopper, which has ravaged farm lands of Kansas, Nebraska, Western Iowa and other western states, and the common grasshopper, "M. femurubrum."

Fisherman Dies Of Heart Attack On Outing Here

CHLOROFORM ATTACKER IN L. A. HUNTED

LOS ANGELES, April 29.—UP—A "chloroform madman" was sought by police tonight after he assaulted a 40-year-old woman—the third victim in less than 24 hours. Elizabeth Gorwit, latest victim, said he gained admittance to her house, knocked out two teeth and assaulted her.

Previously a woman and a girl reported he had attempted to attack them in their rooms last night, using a chloroform spray or soaked rag in an effort to render them unconscious.

TALL THIN MAN

Police said the man, described by each of the women as a tall thin man, used either a chloroform spray or a chloroform-soaked handkerchief to render his intended victims unconscious.

Miss Gorwit said the man asked to rent a room. "I took him to the second floor. As I stepped into the room he came in behind me and put a chloroform-soaked rag over my face."

"I struggled to get free and began to scream. He hit me in the face, knocking me down."

ANOTHER REPORT

Mrs. M. Livingston, first to report the apparently insane marauder, said she was awakened by a spray of chloroform shot into her face through a bedroom window. She saw the "tall, thin man" standing just outside the window, from which he had removed the screen.

She screamed and jerked a bedroom lamp from a table beside her bed. The man fled.

Shortly afterwards Mrs. Lillian Barrott reported the man—described as "tall and thin"—had forced his way into the bedroom of her 14-year-old daughter, Ann. He had crawled under her bed and awakened her, the girl said, by touching her face.

She said he had a rag that smelled of chloroform. She screamed and the man dove head-first through the window.

Police sought reports from nearby inquests, to discover if any inmates had escaped.

Effect of Dust Storms Has Been to Increase Bronchial and Nose Ailments To Alarming Degree

REPORTS continue to come in describing more and greater dust storms from the Central and Northern Plains States, followed by death of both humans and animals. The latest dust storm was described by H. H. Bennett, director of the Department of the Interior as the "worst in the U. S. History." A map to be run into millions of dollars. The "bread basket of the nation" is in danger of becoming the "Great American Desert." Unless wind erosion of soil is halted this will not be many years distant. This is indeed depression news, when we continue to be informed that the drought of 1934 is still unchecked in these districts and that there is no immediate indication of relief.

The grain bins of the nation are not overflowing, and we are already feeling the effects of the national scarcity. True, South America and Australia have huge crops, but our people lack the wherewithal to pay for the long transportation and our farmers are suffering because their money crop is gone and they have no way to save it.

The Federal Government offers to tell the farmers how to prevent dust storms. Control methods recommended include the use of special types of plows and cultivators, the planting of shelter belts, more careful planning of crop rotation, and better control of grazing.

That is all very well and should have been practiced long ago, but it will take years before the emergency is over. The other effect of the dust storm is being suffered by the entire population east of the Plains states.

The dust fills the air and is being deposited everywhere. This dust cannot help but hamper the budding fruit trees and the spring vegetation of the entire eastern half of the continent. One of our local scientists has given us the results of measurements and weights of the dust over this area and reports the deposit of over ten tons of dust to the square mile in one hour.

It seems almost unbelievable, but if you were to sweep up the dust from ten square miles in this area you would be convinced that his deductions are well founded.

Other stories are coming in concerning still more serious effects of the dust storms, and that they concern the general health of the community. Colorado reports some strange forms of illness due to the dust. Springfield, Colorado, has had five deaths from an illness which doctors have called double pneumonia for want of a better name. Their county relief headquarters reported 48 cases of dust pneumonia among those on relief.

I have personally seen no cases of this pneumonia, but I am seeing many cases of irritating coughs due to dust.

HAY FEVER and asthma patients are complaining of experiencing attacks of their trouble long before the expected time. Those persons subject to sinus troubles as well as those with chronic bronchial irritations are experiencing a severe increase in their distressing symptoms.

There is a great increase in the number of cases of irritations of the eyes. Weeping eyes, and red irritated nostrils are more and more common. The cases of nose bleed are multiplying and I am finding many ordinary cough remedies ineffective.

What the result will be in those with chronic lung conditions is painful to anticipate. What can we do about it? I fear I am not able to answer the question.

If you have sprinkling appliances around your home, the use of them may settle the dust temporarily. Close your houses and say in them as much as possible. Use soothing sprays and gargles for your nose and throat. Bore in for your eyes. A little cotton in the ears may protect them. Do not stir up the dust more than necessary, and pray for abundant rain over the great plains states. If you own an air-conditioned house you are in great luck.

Guide to Charm DYEING THE HAIR SHOULD BE DONE EARLY IF AT ALL

By JACQUELINE HUNT

"SHALL I dye my hair or not?" Every woman asks this question when the first gray strands appear among her own golden, brown or raven locks. Every woman wishes to appear as young as possible. Youth insures her social and professional success.

Gray hair hints of approaching years, so all of the arguments seem to be in favor of dyeing, yet most women feel a certain prejudice against this article.

Sooner or later, however, you must make your own decision, and the sooner the better. If you are best to do it as soon as the first gray strands appear. Then no one will be the wiser. It is when you have definitely reached the salt-and-pepper stage, then suddenly bloom out with shining, evenly tinted locks that your friends may make remarks.

There is nothing shameful about using dye. Think of it simply as you would any other cosmetic that improves your appearance. Certainly a foundation cream and powder make your skin appear younger and finer than it really is and rouge gives you a flush you may not really possess, yet you do not hesitate to use them!

Only be sure that your natural colored hair is more becoming and lovely. If you are well along in years and your hair is gray, then your features may be sweeter and softer with silver locks. Some women also find that their faces seem even more youthful with a halo of snowy hair.

The black-haired woman often finds that she is more distinctive when her hair goes through the steely blue-black stage than when it is black. Her vivid coloring is emphasized by all of the stages of the graying process. But this isn't an argument for natural hair—we start to gray at an early age.

If you do decide in favor of dyeing, be sure that the job is done in a thoroughly efficient and flattering manner and that all of the gray hairs are concealed. To get best results you should have your hair dyed by an expert. Select a reliable shop and be sure that only the finest dye is used on your hair.

Do not try to change the natural color of your hair. Ask for a shade of dye that matches the color of your hair as nearly as possible. It may not be necessary to go over the entire head but only to touch up the gray streaked strands. This may not be so practical, however, since the texture of the hair that is dyed may be sufficiently different from the untouched portions as to be noticeable.

Once your hair is dyed, make appointments at regular monthly intervals for having the hair close to your head retouched. Nothing is so unattractive as a white streak along your part or a white streak along your hairline where the gray hairs have grown out. In some cases the retouching needs to be done often—every two or three weeks.

More on this subject in tomorrow's column!

Edward L. Bernays Represents the Top in Famous Men of Publicity

IT MAY be a little like bringing coals to Newcastle to write about Edward L. Bernays, the panjandrum of publicity, but his career has been so unusual that it is too much to resist. Mr. Bernays is one of the foremost of the country's publicity experts; indeed, that is putting it too lowly, for he likes to be called a public relations counsel.

How he got that way is a striking instance of walking in a straight line. He is one of those rare avers—a New York City-born product. He played on Manhattan's streets as a boy, and evidenced no unusual tendencies toward mass psychology and dramatic effect.

Mr. Bernays had a father who thought boys should be trained to some definite profession before being thrown upon the waiting world; so he took his son away from the back lots of the Big City and sent him to Cornell to study agriculture. That must have been somewhat shocking to a metro-

New York—Taffeta's rustle is being heard where handknits get together in fashion shows. This appeal to the ear as well as the eye was recorded by us as a smart idea being used by a prominent handknit house some time ago. Now it appears as one of the ways of captivating the fashion show audiences. The taffeta that one hears is the slip, which besides giving a fresh cool sound, holds the handknit skirt out slightly, not flaring it, but keeping it from having too lank and lean a line.

Since taffeta is still being used as trimming, we might suggest that the taffeta slip be matched to taffeta at the neckline of the handknit frock, especially if it is in lighter tone than the body of the dress. The slip that matches the frock is, of course, the most practical idea. The idea is a nice one for the specialty shop, suggesting promotions on slip-and-handknit-frock ensembles.

With Paris emphasis on taffeta foundations for evening frocks making even the sportswear customer conscious of the smartness of a taffeta base for her costume, we would suggest matching the taffeta slip.

Polka dot taffeta has a bolero suggestion. Gray tucked net has a wide front jabot edged with red lace. The lace at top is fashioned of bands of patterned net embroidered in gold thread. Red crepe is used for the bodice. At right of the column, striped broadcloth makes this daytime frock, which is developed with the stripes in diagonal lines in the skirt, while the blouse has wide closing and black wool tie for contrast.

Beauty Tips

QUESTION: "Please tell me how to take a salt bath. I have heard that this sort of bath is invigorating and good for the skin."

—Ella.

Many drugstores sell little bags of sea salt that you can get for your bath. Dissolve a big handful of the crystals in lukewarm water. This bath is cooling and refreshing when taken in the morning. Another suggestion is to keep a big shaker of plain salt near the tub and use it in this fashion: Pour out a handful of salt. Have the body thoroughly wet and scrub the salt vigorously over the body until the circulation is fully aroused. Rinse thoroughly and dry. Do not use soap with the salt bath.

Your mirror is one of your most useful beauty accessories. One of the triple mirrors over your wash basin in the bathroom or over your dressing table will enable you to see yourself as others see you. You can be sure that your powder, rouge and eye make-up are evenly and skillfully applied.

A full-length mirror is also an important aid to beauty. You are less apt to make mistakes in choosing your costumes for one thing. When you can see yourself as a whole you can learn to bring out the best lines of your figure by wearing the right kind of dresses, hats and shoes. And you can always be sure that you are neatly groomed before going out. If your mirror says you are lovely, then you will appear lovely to those you meet.

Tasty and Nourishing Dishes for Today Breakfast Deserves Privilege Of Variety and Good Planning

By JUDITH WILSON

BREAKFAST, in my opinion, should be the best meal of the day, not only when you have house guests or a special party, but every day. It really is an easy meal to prepare. You have so many nice things from which to choose, and there are many clever ways in which you can use left-overs and dabs of this and that.

As the weather gets warmer, try serving more fruit. You can have fruit juice to drink and something to eat like sliced pears, pineapple sticks or whole strawberries dipped into sugar. Strawberries are not expensive and a few of them will go a long way when combined with other fresh fruit, or when used as a garnish for grapefruit or cereal.

You have all kinds of ready-prepared cereal from which to choose. Too, serve several kinds of cereal. Dissolve a big handful of the crystals in lukewarm water. This bath is cooling and refreshing when taken in the morning. Another suggestion is to keep a big shaker of plain salt near the tub and use it in this fashion: Pour out a handful of salt. Have the body thoroughly wet and scrub the salt vigorously over the body until the circulation is fully aroused. Rinse thoroughly and dry. Do not use soap with the salt bath.

Here are recipes for some extra good, but by no means radical breakfast specials:

Chicken Liver Omelet

Clean and cut into pieces four chicken livers. Dice one slice of bacon and cook in two tablespoons of butter two or three minutes. Add one-half teaspoon finely chopped onion and one-fourth cup thinly sliced mushrooms. Simmer until the onion is well cooked, then add the cut up livers and cook until well done. Set aside while you prepare the omelet.

Allow one egg for each serving with one tablespoon milk or cream and salt and pepper to taste for each egg. Beat until very light. Melt four tablespoons butter in a skillet, turn in the egg mixture and cook slowly, lifting it along the edges to permit the uncooked portion to run underneath. When the omelet is firm, spread with the chicken liver mixture, roll up and serve at once.

Butterscotch Biscuits

Make your favorite biscuit recipe, using two cups flour. Roll one-fourth inch thick and spread with two tablespoons softened butter, and one-fourth cup brown sugar. Roll like a jelly roll, cut in one-half inch slices, place the cut side down in a pan spread with two tablespoons melted butter and one-half cup brown sugar. Bake in a hot oven until done.

Breakfast Grill

Have your plates very hot. On each one place two crisp little pork sausages, two crisp slices of bacon and an egg fried in butter and dressed with a sauce made by adding a little Worcestershire sauce to the melted butter in the pan. Season with salt and pepper. Garnish with radishes and watercress. Serve at once.

Ham and Hominy

Drain the liquid from a can of hominy. Brown the hominy in hot butter or ham drippings. Serve on hot plates, making a small depression in each mound. Fill the depressions with shredded fried ham and top with poached eggs. Pour over all a gravy made by adding a little thickening and milk to the ham drippings.

Surprise Muffins

Stir up your favorite muffin batter. Fill muffin pans one-third full and add a teaspoon left-over jelly or jam, a sliced apricot or date. Cover with additional batter and bake in a hot oven.

MODES AND MANNERS

QUESTION: "We were visiting a friend who had promised to take us over to her newly-married sister's for tea. At twenty to six she said, 'Mercy! It is after five-thirty and much too late to stop by Helen's for tea.' In short it had slipped her mind. I had thought about it once or twice during the visit but had no idea of the hour. Should I have reminded her?" —Viola P.

ANSWER: A hostess who has planned outside entertainment for her guests, should bear the time for them to start. This is not up to the guest.

QUESTION: "What is high tea?" —Alice S.

ANSWER: It is a popular form of Sunday evening entertainment, when one invites a dozen or so people and does not want to go to the trouble or expense of serving a cooked dinner. Typical menu is fried chicken or cold meats, a salad, hot cakes or muffins with preserves, rolls and butter. And tea, of course, or coffee, if your guests prefer it.

QUESTION: "How should fish bones be removed from the mouth?" —Ivy P. N.

ANSWER: The same as fruit seeds and pits: between the thumb and forefinger, and placed on the side of one's plate.

Short Cuts

If you are planning to paint in the spring, here is a timely tip: Several thin coats, if allowed sufficient time for drying, will wear better and last longer than a fewer number of thick coats.

Special chinaware does not have to be rewashed just before setting the table for special company if a hostess has protectors for her plates. These are made of cellophane thinned to gauzy transparency, but of durable quality. The sizes range in diameter from six to eleven inches and from five and a half to six and a half inches in height. They are dustproof and moisture proof, as well as tall enough to protect a dozen or so plates.

When boiling green vegetables, add the salt for seasoning the last five minutes of cooking, and they will be a more vivid, natural and appetizing green for serving.

You and Your Child TRAINING CHILD IN NEATNESS IS DELICATE TASK

By JANE HERBERT GOWARD

TO THE conscientious parent the home functions as a semi-educational institution, with its main object the development of the highest type of manhood and womanhood.

But parents frequently become so engrossed in the psychological and scientific aspects of child training that little details of great importance are sometimes overlooked. Take training in habits of personal daintiness and neatness. Such training is secondary in importance only to training in character and habits of health.

If you have a little daughter, it is not enough to give the child a daily bath and a semi-weekly shampoo. The child should be taught to perform certain little services for herself. Personal daintiness is a habit that must be formed early in childhood. It lays the foundation for beauty and charm in later years.

To get started on the right track, all a little girl needs is encouragement and help from mother. She should be taught how to use her hairbrush, how to comb and hairbrush.

She should have her own manly comb and brush, and be able to handle the nail file without injury to herself, she should be taught how to use it.

The task of schooling little brother in habits of neatness is somewhat more difficult. But here, too, the parent must cater to the child. If she understands the nature of boys, a mother will do this as a matter of course. She will refrain from scolding, nagging or embarrassing a child for his appearance. Sometimes she will speak pertinently. "You can't see behind your ears, darling, but everyone else can." What child would take offense at such forthrightness?

Or again, she may appear to treat the matter lightly. One mother made her boy conscious of the water line on his wrists simply by asking, "High tide or low?" From the first, when he grinned sheepishly, she had the satisfaction of knowing that his was getting somewhere with him.

MODERN WOMEN

By MARIAN MAYS MARTIN

A Young Man Who Is Serious About Marriage To the Point of Being Afraid of It

WHY are most men so "afraid" of marriage? Women, who should be the ones to fear it, are nearly always ready and anxious to rush right in.

"Dear Mrs. Martin: I have been very much attracted to a young lady for two years, but I am afraid to get married. When I tell any of my men friends that I am contemplating matrimony they say 'don't' and look at me as though I had said something extraordinary. Some of these men claim to be happily married, but they say the single state is best for men and that marriage only brings a great deal of trouble and responsibility. One elderly gentleman said: 'Wait until you are 40 and then marry me.'"

"All these strange references to the married state alarm me, and I find that I am unconsciously selling myself the idea that all these critics cannot be wrong. But then, too, if marriage is such a strain on a man how come that these same critics all seem to thrive on it?"

I want to get married because I have a girl that I think is very nice. She is getting a little uneasy because I dodge the subject of marriage every time it comes up and once or twice she has asked me without any hesitancy why we do not get married, pointing out that it is the only way to live.

I GUESS her relatives want to know what I am hanging around for, but that is only supposition. If she were my sister I would probably want to know, you can bet.

"A man usually turns to other men for advice and I am no exception to the rule, but why do so many of them shout against marriage? Nearly everybody gets married sometime. I am a city salesman covering small towns in my motor car for a large concern, and while I do not make a great deal of money I can support a wife. Can you shed any light on my problem?—Not Too Anxious."

You have no problem, so far as I can see. Marry the girl and good luck to you. Why listen to these old sore-heads and kill-joys? Why not get your matrimonial experience first hand?

Because some one else has made a failure of marriage, is that any reason why you would. By the same token, because some one has made a happy marriage that any reason why you would? Every marriage is an individual experience and its success depends entirely on the two participating people concerned. No one else's marriage experience has anything to do with it.

JUST break down and confess a point here and now that I am a most believer in marriage. I think it is the only way for a man to live any sort of a satisfactory life. An unhappy marriage is a dreadful experience, but it is an experience and should have its commensation.

That you are a very cautious young man is self-evident. Probably feeling so seriously about marriage, you would enter into it with an appreciation of its obligations. And that's a help. The old critic who advised you to wait until you were forty and then marry money is either a smart Aleck or a disreputable old dog-in-the-manger who because he has missed out himself begrudges everyone else the right to be happy.

It seems a perfectly natural phase young men go through this being frightened at the idea of marriage. It really mustn't be taken too seriously. Marriage isn't a life sentence. It is an experience, and one which no normal man can afford to miss. For it is normal to want to marry, and have one's own life and home. Since you are already "very much attracted" to a girl you are not being very fair to her if you do not either ask her to be your wife or remove yourself in your motor car and clear the field for some less timid soul who has some appreciation of the possibilities of happiness marriage brings.

Theft Of Wood From SERA Will Be Investigated

SAN FRANCISCO, April 29.—UP.—Department of Justice agents are preparing to conduct an investigation into the alleged theft of thousands of dollars worth of wood from an SERA project in Sutter Forest, it was indicated today.

Fred Chase, special investigator in the case, said he believed he would have sufficient evidence to warrant a federal criminal investigation within a few days. Confused conditions of books on the project made it difficult to estimate the exact loss, Chase said.

Four Are Beaten In Trolley Strike Violence In East

OMAHA, Neb., April 29.—UP.—Four men were beaten and three guards on this car were slugged before police arrived in time to halt the attack.

The demonstrators were rocking the car to overturn it when police arrived. Chicken wire shields about the windows had been ripped away and every window was smashed.

Twelve passengers remained in safety when the trolley first was stopped. The rioters retreated into a crowd which quickly gathered and showered police with rocks.

The policemen released 20 tear gas bombs. Half a dozen persons fainted.

Mooney Attorneys Petition For Writ

SAN FRANCISCO, April 29.—UP.—Attorneys for Tom Mooney today filed a petition for a writ of habeas corpus for the famed prisoner, carrying the action to the state district court of appeals.

The same petition recently was denied by Superior Judge Edward Butler in Marin county.

If the plea is denied it will be carried to the state supreme court, and finally to the United States court.

Last week the state legislative assembly passed a resolution asking Governor Frank P. Merriam to commute Mooney's life sentence and that of Warren K. Billings to time served.

Both men were convicted of par-

Test To Be Made Of Legality Of New Sales Tax

OLYMPIA, Wash., Apr. 29.—UP.—A temporary injunction preventing the state tax commission from collecting the new two per cent retail sales tax was granted today by Superior Judge John M. Wilson.

The tax was to have gone into effect May 1. Judge Wilson held it was discriminatory, nor uniform and granted special immunities. He said laws having statewide effect should be tested for constitutionality before becoming effective. He cited the 1931 state AAA, held illegal by the state supreme court recently.

The state tax commission "undoubtedly" Judge Wilson's ruling affected only the plaintiff, a Seattle cafe operator, and said preparations to collect the tax would not be interrupted.

TWO GROUPS START DRIVE ON NEW DEAL

WASHINGTON, April 29.—UP—The nation's business and labor leaders opened a series of separate conferences today in a determined effort to influence the future course of the New Deal.

On one side of the White House trade unionists from coast to coast gathered and rallied mass pressure on Congress for passage of the Wagner-Connelly labor disputes bill, the 30 hour week and other legislation sponsored by the American Federation of Labor.

A friendly way, on the other side of the President's mansion, the United States Chamber of Commerce convention swung into action and a special committee immediately attacked the administration's banking act pending in Congress.

Between these opposing groups stood Mr. Roosevelt. He took the offensive for the New Deal last night in a fireside chat outlining its progress thus far and hopes for the future.

NO ONE PLEASED

It was regarded typical by some that the President's remarks did not entirely please either faction. Business and industry hoped Mr. Roosevelt would insist to the right. They would have liked to have heard him say that he was willing to postpone congressional action on social security, utility holding company, banking, labor disputes and the 30 hour work week bills.

Instead the President insisted on enactment of social, holding company and banking legislation.

LABOR DISAPPOINTED

Labor was disappointed because Mr. Roosevelt did not endorse either the disputes bill or the 30 hour work week. The unionists were pleased, however, that the Chief Executive had insisted that collective bargaining, minimum wages and maximum hours gains made under NIRA must be preserved.

The laborites saw nothing in the Chief Executive's remarks to indicate he was opposed to the labor disputes bill and their leaders said privately that Mr. Roosevelt would sign the measure if it were enacted by Congress.

The chamber of commerce committee's attack on banking bill came as the measure was brought up in the House for consideration. In addition to making permanent the Federal deposit insurance, feature the bill amends the Federal Reserve Act to create virtually a central monetary authority.

ENGLISH WILL FILE PROTEST ON SUB PLANS

LONDON, April 29.—UP—The government was deeply concerned tonight by word that Germany again is breaking the Versailles treaty with a program for immediate construction of 12 or more formidable fast-attack submarines.

Sir John Simon, foreign secretary, told the House of Commons that Germany had intimated construction orders already have been given.

Simultaneously, it was revealed that Reichsfuehrer Adolf Hitler has requested a brief delay in opening the Anglo-German naval negotiations which he hopes will approve this latest move in his campaign to restore the Reich's armed might.

Hitler wants time to deliver a "keynote pronouncement" on his naval plans, probably the second week in May. The German navy, which in London, Captain Erwin Waeber, visited Admiral Sir John Chatfield, First Lord of the Admiralty, and orally spouted Germany's program for the protection of her naval power. He suggested the talks, originally set for May 2, be delayed at least a fortnight. The Admiralty agreed.

Meanwhile Germany will lay down the 12 hulls in May, and experts believed the 250-ton U-boats would be rushed in order to be ready for service before the end of summer. Germany insists the submarines are purely for coastal defense in the Baltic.

British experts, however, are convinced that these compact little ships are capable of a 6,000-mile cruise radius which may influence the balance of power on the high seas. They could reach the United States, for example, and return without refueling.

The submarine parts are understood already to have been manufactured.

They are reported revolutionary in design, including the use of hydrogen combined with fuel oil for surface power and hydrogen plus oxygen for propulsion when submerged. Experts say they also will be capable of delivering attacks from unprecedented depths, out of reach of depth bombs. The Germans have perfected a so-called "hydrophone" which facilitates underwater listening.

Priest, questioned by newspapermen, declared that the committee will charge neglect of office to both the mayor and councilman in the recall movement. He refused to elaborate upon this statement further, declaring that details of the charges will be made public in the statement which will be issued later this week.

Priest stated that a legal notice will be published in the local newspapers 14 days prior to the issuance of recall petitions which will be circulated through the city.

Observers here believe that the action of the committee in refusing to divulge its membership, was done with the purpose in mind of protecting its membership from anyone bringing pressure to bear upon them.

The announcement of the names of the two targets of the recall movement came as a surprise to many here. Rumors were current throughout the day that one or two councilmen would be the object of recall movement.

The prospective recall action comes as a climax to numerous political battles in the city which have resulted in hurling charges against various members of the city council; the change from the city manager form of government back to the commissioner plan and the subsequent change back to the city manager form of government again.

It was only recently that San Francisco detectives were employed by Mayor Hugh Donovan to make an investigation of vice conditions in the city and to check on police officers. The report he has refused to make public which has caused much dissatisfaction.

Political observers here are anticipating the hottest and wordiest political storm of them all to follow tonight's action of the committee.

Intensely serious. The situation facing our needy population does not lack food and shelter. This sum will be supplemented by many other millions furnished by the counties, and our charity bill for the next two years will be nothing short of staggering. While not hard on California, it has a heavy enough burden without adding to it legislation is contemplated to halt the incoming hordes.

News of favorable consideration of the Central Valley Water Project by the government has instilled hope in thousands that there will be an abundance of employment for all who desire it. The idea is fallacious for the project can absorb not more than 15,000 to 25,000 and that number would not even make a dent in the ranks of those here who lack labor.

A BRIGHTER NOTE

Contrasted to these dolorous utterances is an interview given out by President Glanville of the Bank of America. This noted financier gives the cheering news that the backbone of the depression has been broken in the west and that we are on our way back to normal conditions and prosperity. The gentleman is surely in a position to speak with authority and I very much want to believe every word he says, yet on every hand I see want and destitution, and government statistics rise up and tell me that there are more people existing on some kind of charity than ever before in the history of the country. Though his statement may be too optimistic, even if it is herald of improved conditions we will all rejoice with him. The day of recovery cannot come too soon.

Lamson Defense Given Assistance By Blonde Friend

SAN JOSE, April 29.—UP—David Lamson's defense brightened tonight when defense Attorney Edwin McKenzie announced he had received a deposition from Paul Lehmann, definitely supporting Mrs. Sarah Kelly's denial that Lamson had purchased her lingerie. Lehmann, now in Mexico City, said he purchased silk stockings, lingerie, flowers and other gifts for Mrs. Kelly in Sacramento McKenzie said.

Mrs. Kelly, whom the state claims was the other woman in Lamson's life, has assisted that Lehmann then her fiancé had bought such articles for her. Lehmann's deposition was to be introduced tomorrow as the defense concludes its case for Lamson.

Speed Kings To Tangle In Night Auto Contests

Ranking speed kings of the four-wheelers, headed by Dave Oliver, Alameda veteran who set two new speed records in the opening night, will tangle in the night auto races at Everyville Speedway Thursday night.

Lined up against Oliver and gunning for his scalp are Charlie Barker, the northern California champion, Ken Breneman, 1933 national champion, Fresno's four-time speed team, Lynn Delster and Frank Reicks, veterans from the big tracks, and a score of others.

With Oliver's records and the big money at stake, hot competition looms for the time trials, elimination dashes, trophy sprints and the 30-lap battle royal of the 10 event program.

The motorcycle mania, riding new long frame machines under new rules which are designed to return the lost art of broadside to the game, will make their 1935 how on the tricky one-fifth mile flat.

Participating the hottest and wordiest political storm of them all to follow tonight's action of the committee.

NEW PROBE OF LOBBY FUNDS MAY BE MADE

SAN FRANCISCO, April 29.—UP—A fresh investigation into charges of paid lobbying in the California legislature appeared imminent tonight as it was announced an inquiry would be conducted to determine disposal of a $15,000 fund assertedly paid in behalf of Governor Frank P. Merriam's campaign last November.

The new inquiry is to be conducted in an attempt to learn if the $15,000 was paid directly to Nathan J. Elliott, Los Angeles lobbyist, or to the Independent Truck Owners' Association which he represents. The fund was said to have been paid Elliott by a southern California political organization.

Elliott, under court order to pay his divorced wife $200 in back alimony, pleaded in court today he could raise only $150 of the amount.

Howard R. Crittenden, Jr., attorney for Mrs. Elliott, obtained a two weeks postponement of the case to conduct the investigation. Mrs. Elliott charges her former husband received the money directly, while Elliott contends it was paid to the association.

According to Mrs. Elliott, the money was paid with the understanding Elliott was to change his support from Raymond L. Haight, independent candidate, to Merriam. Crittenden indicated he would undertake exhaustive investigation into the company's books as soon as he was able to obtain court authorization to open the accounts. Crittenden denied Elliott's charges he wished to examine the records in order to obtain information for railroad interests.

Card of Thanks

Notwithstanding the fact I was eliminated from the election contest yesterday, I wish to extend my congratulations to the six who qualified, and also proffer my sincere thanks to the many who gave me their support.

Overland Limited leaves in the evening and consumes only two business days to Chicago. Pacific Limited leaves in the morning, shows you the mountains by daylight, and makes Chicago in two nights and three days.
